You are cordially invited to join Agilent's lunch seminar on Wednesday June 27th from 12:20 p.m. to 1:20 p.m. during the Metabolomics 2018 conference in Seattle, Washington.

Abstract:

Agilent continues to innovate solutions to address the challenges of metabolomic research.

This workshop will cover improvements in both metabolomics by mass spectrometry as well as real-time live cell analysis using Seahorse XF technology.

Agilent provides robust workflows for discovery and targeted metabolomics analysis by GC/MS, LC/MS, CE/MS, and SFC/MS. We will present information on applying the DESI imaging and ion mobility mass spectrometry in metabolomics workflows. Sample preparation and separation are key elements in metabolomics workflow and we will present the latest developments from Agilent on lipid removal for metabolomics samples and polar chromatography.

We look forward to seeing you in Seattle!
